

Mark W. Hanna

Mark's practice focuses on commercial litigation, with an emphasis on oil and gas litigation and regulation. Mark joined Scott Douglass & McConnico LLP in 2006 and was named partner in 2011. Mark represents a variety of clients, including oil and gas producers, working interest owners, and service companies, from publicly traded companies to start ups.

Mark has appeared on behalf of clients in state and federal courts throughout Texas on a variety of commercial and oil and gas cases. He has also developed a substantial regulatory practice, representing oil and gas operators before the Texas Railroad Commission and the Texas General Land Office. Those regulatory matters range from negotiations and assisting with permit approvals to multi-day contested hearings. In addition to his litigation and regulatory work, Mark counsels clients on a variety of energy-related topics, including title issues, contract issues, royalty payments, and oil and gas lease interpretation.

Mark is also an active member of the Austin community, serving on the board of directors of The Contemporary Austin.
