

Personal Injury and Products Liability

We represent businesses of various sizes in the defense of products liability, premises liability and other personal injury and tort claims. With our lean and aggressive approach, we are able economically to defend against small claims as well as handle high-stakes, multi-million dollar cases. Although most of our practice in this area is on the defense side, we handle serious personal injury claims for plaintiffs, typically on a contingent fee basis, and have recovered millions of dollars for our plaintiff clients.
